

Ummm I am pretty sure someone is scamming me and invading my privacy all of my computers and phones have been hacked and says I'm on some purple tty relaY service for the death and hard of hearing some weird pop up tried to make me click something saying that my purple service is paid for by trs?? I know that I have never heard of this purple service until I traced my logs in my computer and was looking at some of my system analytics. I am pretty sure someone has declared me incompetent to take my trust. I am pretty sure I know who it is too.
